What is the announcements module and how does it work?

The announcements module is similar to a news feed. The module displays an image and a title to an announcement that users can select. When a user selects an announcement, they are brought to the announcements page which allows them to view the content associated to the announcement.

The announcements module works along with the announcements feed (admin side).

Navigate to Communication->Website-> Announcements Feed on the admin side. In the bottom area you enter the title, an image for the article(optional), whether you want the article visible, and the content you wish to display. After you click add you should see the announcement in the upper area where you can select it again to edit and update the information.

Once you have the announcements module on a page the items will show up and users will click the title of the article they wish to view.
